August — BERKELEY AQUATIC PARK — Trip

A group of 26 members and guests met at Berkeley Aquatic Park August 23. The morning was sunny, with cool breezes from offshore. In addition to Aquatic Park, the Berkeley pier and territory near the Albany dump were covered. The mockingbird, observed by Mr. Peterson, is an addition to the list for Aquatic Park compiled by David Gelston Nichols about September 1951. The following 27 species were observed:

Eared grebe	Willet	Bonaparte gull
Double-cr. cormorant	Dowitcher	Forster tern
Black-cr. night heron	Western sandpiper	Anna hummingbird
Mallard	Godwit	Belted kingfisher
Pintail	Sanderling	Barn swallow
Lesser scaup	No. Phalarope	Mockingbird
Surf scoter	Western gull	House sparrow
Killdeer	Calif. gull	House finch
Black-bellied plover	Ring-billed gull	Song sparrow

September — ALVISO and DUMBARTON — Trip

Forty five members of the Golden Gate and Santa Clara Valley Audubon Societies met at Alviso on Sunday Sept. 14th for a joint trip to the Alviso and Dumbarton marshes. The weather was warm. Ten members of the group were armed with telescopes so close up views of the birds were available to all.

At Alviso the levies to the North and West were explored. Here Pintail and Shoveller Ducks, Avocets and Northern Phalaropes were seen in good numbers. The group met at the KGO tower on the Dumbarton Bridge approach for lunch. After lunch the area around the tower was explored. A number of Snowy Plovers were seen at this spot. Later they drove to the east end of the bridge and parked their cars off the road. From here the group followed the levy to the S. P. bridge. Fine displays of Hudsonian and longbilled Curlews and Marbled Godwits were seen in this area. A Clapper Rail was observed at the S. P. bridge.

As these areas are familiar birding grounds for the Santa Clara Audubon Society the members pointed out many new bird spots to the Golden Gate Group.

In the fields close to Alvarado about 2,000 Pintail Ducks were observed by some of the members driving from Oakland to Alviso in the morning. Thirty-nine species were observed.

White pelican	Black-bellied plover	Ring-billed gull
Double-cr. cormorant	Black turnstone	Forster tern
Great blue heron	Long-billed curlew	Caspian tern
Amer. egret	Hudsonian curlew	Barn swallow
Pintail	Willet	Mockingbird
Shoveller	Gr. yellow-legs	Calif. shrike
Turkey vulture	Least sandpiper	Yellow-throat
Marsh hawk	Dowitcher	House sparrow
Sparrow hawk	Western sandpiper	Red-wing
Calif. clapper rail	Godwit	Brewer blackbird
Snowy plover	Avocet	House finch
Semipalmated plover	No. phalarope	Savannah sparrow
Killdeer	Calif. gull	Song sparrow

THE 1951 CHRISTMAS BIRD COUNT

The April number of AUDUBON FIELD NOTES contains the 1951 Christmas Bird Count. Published were a total of 433 counts from Alaska, three Canadian provinces, and every state except Nevada. Los Angeles had the greatest number of species, 150, which was achieved on a rainy day by no less than 106 observers. Wilmington, N. C., was second with 141, and St. Marks, Fla., was third with 140. No less than 38 counts totalled 100 species or more. The Oakland count, with 123 species, was in a quadruple tie for 8th place, and San Francisco was 21st with 111 species.

Twenty three of the lists were from California, with 11 totalling 100 or more species, as follows: (1) Los Angeles, 150; (2) Oakland, 123; (3) Morro Bay, 120; (4) Monterey Peninsula, 118; (5) San Jose, 115; (6) San Francisco, 111; (7) Salinas, 107; (8) Orange County, central and coastal, 105; (9) Pasadena, 104; (10) San Diego, 101; and Sacramento, 100. The total number of species reported from California was 230.

In the "Summary of Highest Counts of Individuals", the Oakland list led for eight species, as follows: eared grebe, 97; ruddy duck, 11,445; western sandpiper, 7465; sanderling, 1052; avocet, 5000; glaucous-winged gull, 4457; plain titmouse, 59; warbling vireo, 1. (The only California winter record known. See "The Condor" March-April, 1952.) The San Francisco list led in 4 species: black turnstone, 87; wandering tattler, 1 (tie); chestnut-backed chickadee, 173, Townsend warbler, 22.

A. LAURENCE CURL.

As the 1952 Christmas Bird Count approaches, the above summary of the 1951 Count is especially interesting.

NEW ASSIGNMENTS

Mr. Vaughan MacCaughy, our President, has been appointed Pacific Coast Representative for the National Audubon Society, and Mr. Sandy Sprunt, Assistant. They can be reached at the Society's office, 693 Sutter St., San Francisco 2, PR. 5-4042.

Mr. MacCaughy will be a great asset to the National, with his many capabilities and cordial personality.

Dr. Albert Boles, our Vice-President, has been appointed President of the Golden Gate, by the Directors, to succeed Mr. MacCaughy.

Dr. A. Laurence has been appointed Director.

OCTOBER MEETING

The 421st meeting of the Golden Gate Audubon Society will be held in the West Auditorium of the Oakland Public Library, Oak and 14th Streets, on October 9th, at 7:30 p.m. After the business meeting, Mrs. Junea W. Kelly will tell us of her "February Birding in Panama", its difficulties and its rewards. No-host dinner at Zerikote's on Lake Merritt at six o'clock.

October — Stinson Beach — Trip

On Sunday, October 12, to Stinson Beach, Marin County. Here we sometimes see Murrelets, Guillemots, and Black Brant. If possible we will walk along the beach to the end of the sand bar, it is a good idea to include a container of water with your lunch as there is no fresh water available on the walk.

We will meet at the bus depot in Stinson Beach at 9:30. Take 8:15 Bolinas bus from Greyhound depot, Seventh and Mission streets, San Francisco.

Leader: A. Laurence Curl, Landscape 6-7004.

Bring binoculars, telescope, lunch and interested friends.

October—Golden Gate Park — Trip

On Saturday, October 25, to Golden Gate Park, San Francisco. Meet at 43rd Ave. and Fulton Street at 10:00. From downtown San Francisco take No. 5 McAllister bus. Beginning with Chain-of-Lakes we will visit several lakes, including Stow Lake, as well as other spots which might prove likely habitats.

Leader: Laura A. Stephens. Bring binoculars, lunch and interested friends
